We cater for beginners, Beauty Graduates, Nurses and Medical Professionals looking to up-skill and move into the Aesthetics Industry.

This course can be demanding, and it is only when the student begins that they realise just how challenging it can be. It is for this reason that we always arrange a meeting with anyone who are interested in enrolling to ensure that this is the right choice for them.

Our Business and Brand Partners

Eve Taylor Aromatherapy Skin Care

We are now partnered with the world-renowned Eve Taylor Aromatherapy Skin Care brand. The Eve Taylor skin care brand contains active ingredients that are beyond cosmetic, they work deeper than the upper layer of skin giving highly effective results.

As we change our skin changes so choosing and using the correct products is vital to maintaining great skin and achieving great results. All of the Eve Taylor aromatherapy product formulations are developed specifically for the qualified therapists who will analyse the skin first and only prescribe products suitable for the skin type and current condition and prescribe products for homecare use.

Eve Taylor have never tested any of their products on animals – Eve Taylor products are only tested on people proving that the products work and deliver the results. They are also pH balanced, Paraben free, and do not contain any artificial colours or fragrances and well as other known irritants which can sensitize the skin, including alcohols, formaldehyde, petrochemicals, or phthalates alongside other ingredients that can be comedogenic (pore blocking).

Eve Taylor Aromatherapy Skin Care is also active members of the Aromatherapy Trades Council (ATC) and the International Spa Association (ISPA).

JANSSEN COSMETICS was the first German company to launch a professional skin care product combining the best from the fields of pharmacy and cosmetics, onto the market and have continued to advance in the field of cosmeceutical skin care since 1997. Each cosmeceutical series is based on an active substance concept which is optimally tailored to a specific skin type and achieves both visible and measurable results. Cosmeceuticals do not act exclusively on the surface of the skin but achieve an effect deep down in the skin. The skin 's different needs and requirements are specifically targeted, leading to an immediate and long-term improvement in the skin profile.

The product range of the JANSSEN COSMETICS consists of glycolic and salicylic acid peel treatment and are used in cosmetic cabins and wellness facilities, applied by trained beauticians and wellness therapists. In addition, the brand also offers products for home use by consumers. As part of the Cidesco Aesthetics training programme our students train with the Janssen Cosmeceutical Skin Care and work with these advanced skin products on clients as part of their Cidesco case studies and project.
